Bad Curbing at Main and 3rd Sts; Interest Cut O.K.

On several occasions your editor making a right turn coming north on S. Main St. and turning east into Third St. has dragged a back wheel over the curb.

This, of course, is the location of First Baptist Church. The first half-dozen car owners I questioned said they had had the same experience as mine.

It's a square corner, at a point where modern traffic requires a rounded-off curbing.

Square corners at the intersection of two major highways—Nos. 67 and 29—should have gone out with the horse-and-buggy era—but this is to give notice to highway and street officials that Hope still has one of these public nuisances.

May we have some action at the earliest to correct this hazard?

Repeated cuts by the Federal Reserve Board—the latest occurring this week-end—have brought the prime rate of interest down from a high of 8½ per cent to 6 per cent for the present.

This is good news for the long-range economy, encouraging construction of new residences and new industrial buildings, because interest charges are a considerable part of total construction cost.

Years ago it was estimated that it required a capital investment for every new job in the U.S.A. of about $7,500. But the investment figure required today must be at least twice that $7,500 figure.

Therefore lower interest costs can be spelled out as meaning plant expansion and more jobs.

Of course the interest trend works both ways. As the prime rate—the rate given the largest borrowers—falls so will the return fall for savers, still getting the highest rate in history from banks and savings & loan associations.

But a general decline in interest costs is one of the most reliable indications that better times are coming up for the nation.

Police in New York Going Back

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The city's patrolmen voted Tuesday to return to patrol duty, during the afternoon, ending a six-day job action.

The 225-113 vote came during a stormy delegate meeting of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association and the men in blue started back to work in trickles even as the vote was underway.

One patrolman leaving the meeting early said:

"We're going back at 4 p.m., no matter what the vote here is. We led the strike, and now we're going to lead the men back."

Shouts of "sell out" were heard from the hall as the final vote was tallied.

Earlier, the first two tours due on duty spurned their union leaders back-to-work appeal. They can't even hold their own pending the outcome of the meeting.

An indication of the direction the vote might take came when a source in the PBA let it be known an earlier secret vote of the 26,000 patrolmen, showed 87 with a curl with one finger while per cent were willing to return. nibbling with her lips at the

It was reliably reported the vote when ways feel like going out and they assured patrolmen the courts would not invoke the Taylor law—which bans strikes by public employees—against them and that any appeal of the decision in a trial of the controversial pay parity case would be expedited.

PBA President Edward J. Kiernan had asked his men to return to work Monday after a trial was set for Tuesday on the parity issue. The patrolmen refused, about 85 per cent of them maintaining their job action.

Police Commissioner Patrick V. Murphy said Monday he was within 48 hours of asking the Mayor for National Guard assistance to meet police needs.

Arkla Woos Senators for Rate Revision

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—W. R. Stephens, president and chairman of the board of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., told nearly all of Arkansas' state senators Monday night that it was critical that Arkla be allowed to build its proposed Anadarko pipeline.

All state senators except Republican Jim Caldwell of Rogers and Morrell Gathright of Pine Bluff were present for the dinner at the company's motel. Also present were Lt. Gov. Bob Riley and Martin Borchert, who represented Gov. Dale Bumpers.

Stephens also pointed out that Arkla should be allowed to renegotiate its long-term contracts with industrial customers in the state. Efforts to do that are pending with the state Public Service Commission. Stephens said the purpose of the gathering was to inform the senators of the situation.

He said the Senate might, on its own initiative, "take note of the fact that there is a shortage of natural gas. If you choose to do that, it's your business, but we didn't ask you down here to be anything but good listeners."

Arkla presently has an application pending with the Federal Power Commission for construction of the $101 million Anadarko pipeline into the Oklahoma and Texas Panhandles.

The senators nodded appreciatively as a stream of Arkla vice presidents described the state's critical gas shortage, the hope offered by the pipeline and the need to conserve natural gas for domestic uses.

Each vice president stressed that the pipeline was essential to the well-being of every citizen in Arkansas.

The vice presidents, all from Shreveport, La., also said the question of renegotiating the industrial contracts would have a large bearing on when or if the pipeline would be built.

No Indictment in Shooting

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—The Richmond County grand jury declined Monday to indict the father of soul singer James Brown on charges arising from the Dec. 7 shooting of a New York man.

Joseph "Pop" Brown had been charged with aggravated assault with intent to kill. Police said Brown and John Lyons, 30, argued at a residence and Lyons pulled a knife.

A General Criticism of the Time Is That Nobody Listens Now

Fair Trade Law Repeal Passes Committee But House Balks at Vote

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Hand-lers of Gov. Dale Bumpers' proposal to repeal the state "fair trade" liquor law maneuvered the bill through committee Monday, but failed to persuade the Arkansas House to vote on it the same day.

Rep. Cecil Alexander of Heber Springs, predicting its passage, said he hoped to bring up the legislation for a vote Wednesday.

The House Rules Committee voted 6-3 Monday to recommend approval of the bill, apparently the first favorable committee recommendation ever given a measure to repeal the 1949 law.

The "fair trade" act sets the minimum prices at which liquor and wine may be sold in the state. It requires a minimum markup of 13 per cent on liquor and 18 per cent on wine at the wholesale level and 30 per cent on liquor and 50 per cent on wine at the retail level.

Meanwhile, the Senate approved a bill Monday to establish regulations that would likely preclude the holding of "rock festivals" in Arkansas. Sen. Milt Earnhart of Fort Smith, the author, assured the Senate before the 22-6 vote that other music performances would be unaffected by the measure.

The House approved and sent to the Senate administration bills to require public disclosure of campaign expenses in primaries, now required only in general elections, and to prohibit a person from voting in the preferential primary of one political party and then casting a ballot in the runoff election of another party.

The "fair trade" repeal bill could not have been brought up Monday without a suspension of a House rule requiring a printed copy of the bill to have been on the legislators' desks for 24 hours. Alexander failed by four votes Monday of obtaining enough support to suspend the rules. The vote was 56 to suspend, 36 against and one "present," with 60 votes required.

Reps. J. B. Smith of Marianna and Bill Randall of Hot Springs pleaded for more time to consider the proposal. Noting

Local Group at Meet on Conservation

The 34th annual meeting of the Arkansas Association of Conservation Districts was held at the Arlington Hotel in Hot Springs last week.

George F. Brown, District Conservationist and Mrs. Brown; Monroe Samuel; Richard Arnold; Slomon Goodlett; and Moss Rowe, directors of the Hempstead County Soil and Water Conservation District, attended.

At a luncheon the Hempstead County directors were awarded the Goodyear plaque for outstanding accomplishments for the 1969 program year.

The theme of the meeting was "Our Role in Environmental Quality."

Many good talks were heard on environment and ecology, given by such speakers as William R. Dersal, Ecology Specialist of Washington, D. C.; Dr. Ronald G. Menzel, Director of Water Quality Management Laboratory, Agricultural Research Service, Durant, Okla.; Kenneth C. Walker, Assistant to Dep. Admin., Agricultural Research Service, Washington, D. C.; Dr. Lyle O. Hill, Executive Secretary, Arkansas Federation of Water and Air; Ed Wilborn, editor of Progressive Farmer, Memphis, Tennessee; Dr. Jerry Wilham, Associate Professor of Zoology of Oklahoma State University and several others.

The pros and cons of herbicides and pesticides were discussed. The good of these weighed against the pollutants and the stress that logics should be used in the use or prevention of herbicides and pesticides.

It was an interesting meeting and much was gained from the talks and discussions.

Door prizes were given at intervals and Slomon Goodlett of Ozon won a 12-gauge, automatic shotgun.

There's one advantage to these wide new neckties some men are letting their wives and daughters talk them into wearing: they make a man look silly—but they do seem to cut down on the number of chest colds he catches.

The situation still hasn't thawed out in the home of a friend of mine who doesn't like frozen foods. All he gave his wife for Christmas was a new icepick.

Speaking of foods, one of my biggest problems with my cat is trying to get her to eat leftover stubs of dried salami. My refrigerator is full of them, and if the cat doesn't develop an appetite for them soon, I may have to sew them together and make a quilt.

Isn't it odd that in an emergency, it's always the old maid in the office—not the pretty young things in the stenographic pool—who always have a safety pin in her desk?

Three Perish in House Fire

AUGUSTA, Ark. (AP)—Three persons were killed early today when fire of undetermined origin destroyed a farmhouse north of here.

Authorities identified the victims as Mrs. Ruth Freeman, 35, and her two children—Pamela Janice Freeman, 11, and James Anthony Freeman, 13.

Woodruff County authorities said the home was demolished by the time they arrived.

GNP Drop Confirms Ailing Health of the Nation's Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has released statistics confirming the ailing health of the nation's economy in 1970, a year in which the Gross National Product dropped for the first time in 12 years and prices vaulted 5 per cent.

The Commerce Department said real GNP, measured by 1958 dollars, dropped to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $721.3 billion in the last three months of 1970, down from the $727.4 billion in the previous quarter.

Measured in terms of current, inflated dollars, the GNP increased to $991 billion, up $5.5 billion at a seasonally adjusted annual rate.

"Trillion Dollar Day" for the GNP was rung up Dec. 15 on a device similar to a big cash register in the Commerce Department's lobby.

The Commerce Department announcement that prices in 1970 rose at an annual rate of 5 per cent marked the steepest one-year advance since 1951.

The Gross National Product drop of nearly one-half of 1 per cent was the first decline in that key indicator since 1958.

The economic picture was gloomiest during the last quarter.

Girl Scouts, Leaders Plan Record Auction

Adult leaders and Girl Scouts worked from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Saturday, January 16th, preparing for the giant old record auction to be held on KXAR Saturday, January 23rd.

The auction will begin at 12:30 p.m. and go until 6:30 p.m. There will be 372 lots offered in all musical classifications: standard, jazz, gospel, rock, country and classical. There will be 45 rpm singles in country and rock, 33½ albums in gospel, country, standard and classical.

The public service programs offered are all 33½ rpm. One of the most unique features of the auction will be the old 78 rpm records.

Some of these may well be collectors items. They will sell by the artist name where enough existed to form a lot, otherwise, letters of the alphabet are grouped together in lots of ten records. Bidding will be by telephone to KXAR at 5525 and 3601.

Purchases will be picked up and paid for at the former location of Bud's Broasted Chicken in the shopping center. Mr. Frank McFarly granted the Girl Scouts free use of the building for about two weeks for this purpose. All proceeds will go to the building fund of the local Girl Scouts toward repair and improvement of the little house in Fair Park.

Chrysler, UAW Reach Agreement

By A. F. MAHAN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corp. have reached tentative agreement on a new three-year contract covering 110,000 production employees in the United States and Canada, UAW President Leonard Woodcock announced today.

The union ordered all its men to stay on the job beyond a 10 a.m. strike deadline while negotiators continue work on the section of the contract covering 10,000 salaried personnel.

While the agreement generally followed the pattern set in negotiations at Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp.—including a 51-cent-an-hour first-year raise—a new twist was added.

The two sides agreed to establish a six-member committee to study the feasibility of changing to a four-day, 40-hour workweek. Woodcock told a news conference the feasibility study

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnamese paratroopers guarded by U.S. helicopter gunships, raided a suspected prisoner of war camp inside Cambodia where 20 Americans were believed held but found it empty, Vietnamese sources said today.

The raiding party, however, captured 30 enemy soldiers, the sources reported. The raiding party was led by Lt. Gen. Do Cao Tri, leader of South Vietnam's Cambodian campaign last spring.

The raid took place Sunday and lasted three hours.

"It worked perfectly," said one officer. "We suffered no casualties."

The raid was based on intelligence that American prisoners were being held in an area west of the Cambodian town of Mimot along Highway 7. Mimot is 75 miles northwest of Saigon and about five miles inside Cambodia.

Hempstead Again Leads in Accidents

The Arkansas State Police in its monthly statistical report reported today that 61 persons died in traffic fatalities during the month of December. According to State Police figures, this is 4 fewer deaths than were recorded over the same period a year ago. This brought the state's highway death toll for the year to 616 compared with 605 for 1969.

Captain Milton Mosier District Commander of the Hope district for the Arkansas State Police said that 9 persons died during the month of December on Arkansas highways in the Hope District. Counties in the district recording deaths were Clark and Hempstead 3 each, Little River, Nevada and Pike 1 fatality each.

Howard, Miller, Lafayette and Sevier did not record a fatality during the reporting period. Mosier said Troopers in the 9 county area investigated 57 accidents. Hempstead county experienced the highest accident rate during December recording 9 accidents, followed by Pike county with 8 accidents, Miller and Nevada 7 each, Clark and Howard 6 each, Little River and Sevier 5 each, and Lafayette 4 accidents.

The report indicated that following to close was the leading contributing cause in the accidents followed by failure to yield the right of way, driving on the wrong side of the road, inattention and drinking.

The 61 traffic deaths during December occurred in 50 collisions. Statewide Troopers investigated 995 accidents during the month of December.

Mosier has issued a plea to all motorists to do their level best to help reduce the number of persons killed on Arkansas highways during the coming year.

Astronaut's Widow Asks $10 Million

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The widow of Virgil I. Grissom, one of three astronauts killed in the 1967 Apollo 1 fire, has filed suit for $10 million against the prime contractor on the spacecraft, North American Rockwell Corp., and three subsidiaries.

Betty Grissom, who lives in Houston, brought the action Monday in Brevard County Circuit Court, charging negligence in the flash blaze that killed her husband and his colleagues Roger B. Chaffee and Edward H. White II.

The astronauts were in the capsule perched at the top of the 300-foot-high Saturn rocket the evening of Jan. 27, 1967, running through a countdown rehearsal when ground controllers heard Chaffee's voice cry, "We've got a fire in the spacecraft."

The fire flashed through the oxygen-rich cabin, killing the three men in seconds.

A blue ribbon board of review later reported it found "many deficiencies in design and engineering, manufacture and quality control" by both the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and industrial contractors.

The board said the most likely source of the fire was an electrical arc or short circuit in wiring under the seat of the command pilot, Grissom.

The day following the fatal fire, it was announced that each of the three widows would receive $100,000 from life insurance policies.

The free policies were part of a contract under which two publishing firms held exclusive rights to stories on the personal lives of the astronauts and their families.

The suit filed Monday in this city near the Kennedy Space Center where Grissom died asked $5 million for Mrs. Grissom as the widow and $5 million for her late husband's estate, of which she is executrix. She has two sons, Gary Mark Grissom, 20, and Allen Scott Grissom, 16.

The suit asserted the capsule "did not have a proper fire extinguisher system," "had no emergency egress," and was "defective in that the electrical wires were so manufactured or installed as to allow an electrical arc" to flash in the cabin.

Named along with North American were its subsidiaries North American Aviation, Inc.; Rockwell Standard Corp. and Rockwell Standard Company.

U.S. Using Rockets in Laos Action

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Official sources revealed a bit more today about the American air war in Indochina, reporting that the United States is using rocket-firing helicopter gunships in Laos in direct support of Laotian ground troops fighting North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao forces.

The sources said Army, Air Force and Marine helicopter gunships have been supporting the Laotian troops for some time, and are attacking enemy troops and supplies along the Ho Chi Minh trail through southern Laos.

The U.S. Command said 13 helicopters have been lost over Laos since last March 10, when it began reporting aircraft losses in Laos.

Sources said the United States is conducting one of the biggest aerial campaigns of the war in Laos, using B52 strategic bombers, tactical fighter-bombers, gunships and reconnaissance aircraft with special top secret equipment. The aim is to slow the flow of North Vietnamese troops and war materials into Laos, Cambodia, and South Vietnam, and to prevent the Communist forces from establishing sanctuaries in the three countries.

Disclosure of the helicopter activity in Laos came on the heels of an announcement Monday that U.S. helicopter gunships are attacking enemy forces in Cambodia in support of South Vietnamese forces there.

A Defense Department spokesman in Washington also reported that American helicopters are ferrying South Vietnamese troops into the battle to clear Highway 4 in southern Cambodia, but the U.S. Command said today this was not correct. The command said however, that such assistance to the South Vietnamese was "within the guidelines laid down for the use of U.S. air power to prevent the re-establishment of sanctuaries in Cambodia."

Meanwhile, 6,000 South Vietnamese troops launched a major new drive on both sides of the Cambodian border about 75 miles northwest of Saigon. A spokesman said the aim of the operation in Tay Ninh Province is "secure the area where there are enemy battalions present."

U.S. helicopter gunships operating in the region on the Vietnamese side of the border killed 24 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in one action five miles from the border, spokesmen said. South Vietnamese militiamen reported killing 35 more enemy soldiers in ground combat, while suffering three militiamen killed and six wounded.

to conserve its heavily burdened voltage reserves.

A 3½-hour statewide reduction that reached 5 per cent was enforced Monday in response to an appeal from Con Ed, New York City's power supplier, when subfreezing temperatures caused exceptional demands on heating equipment.

The rare winter "brownout" the second since World War II came as Con Ed's two largest power plants were out of service, leaving the utility with 80 per cent of its generating capacity.

Temperatures to Continue to Be Cold

Cold temperatures are expected to continue in Arkansas through tonight, but a warming trend is forecast for Wednesday as winds swing to the south.

Increasing cloudiness and widely scattered light showers, mainly in the extreme north are expected to accompany the warming trend.

The highs Monday occurred before noon in most areas and temperatures have continued to fall since that time. Temperatures this morning were in the low teens in the north-central portion of the state and in the mid 20s in the south portion.

Lows tonight are expected in the upper teens and 20s. Highs today were forecast in the 20s north and near 40 extreme south. Highs Wednesday should be in the upper 30s and 40s.

Occasional light snow fell in northern Arkansas Monday night, but no accumulation was reported.

Overnight lows include 16 at Fayetteville, 12 at Harrison, 18 at Jonesboro, 25 at Pine Bluff, 23 at Texarkana, 21 at El Dorado, 20 at Memphis, 22 at Little Rock and 22 at Fort Smith.

Rainfall reports for the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m. include a trace at Harrison.

Sen. Russell's Condition Is Critical
WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors reported today the condition of Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., 73, worsened during the night. His condition is now critical, they said.

Russell, dean and president pro tempore of the Senate, encountered breathing difficulties during the night and doctors were called to his bedside in Walter Reed Army Hospital to administer oxygen.

An aide of the senator said his vital signs were weakening.

Russell has been in the hospital since Dec. 8 for treatment of a respiratory ailment. He has suffered for years with emphysema which complicates his respiratory difficulties.

Doctors thought they had cleared the infection in his lower respiratory tract with antibiotics but X-ray pictures two weeks ago showed the infection had returned. Doctors turned to stronger antibiotics and said a few days ago it appeared the infection was clearing.

Russell, who also is chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, has weakened considerably in the last few days, his doctors said.

Russell, first elected to the Senate in 1933, has spent more than half his life as a member of that chamber.

Prepares Debut as Actor
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jean Claude Kilby is preparing for his debut as an actor. It's due to happen next month when the champion skier stars in a Hollywood-financed romantic adventure drama.

John Calley, production chief of Warner Brothers, announced Monday the French athlete will play the lead in "Schuss," produced by Edward Rissien and directed by George Englund.

Production is expected to begin in late February at Cervinia in the Italian Alps.

Kilby has performed in television commercials and documentaries but never in a dramatic role. He won three Gold Medals in the 1968 Olympic Winter Games.

Swiss Probe Plane, Train Collisions

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Swiss officials opened investigations today into a plane crash and a train collision that took the lives of 41 persons.

Thirty-five were killed in the crash of a four-engine Bulgarian airliner when it hit a hill as it was making an instrument landing at Zurich. The only survivors were the Soviet pilot, who suffered minor injuries, and a 12-year-old Israeli boy.

The child was thrown clear when the fuselage of the turbo-prop Ilyushin 18 broke apart and burst into flames. The boy received multiple fractures, but the airline said he was off the critical list today.

Airport officials said the position of the plane's fuselage and torn-off left wing and engines indicated the pilot had gotten off course.

The plane was en route from Paris to Sofia.

Six persons were killed and nine critically injured when two commuter trains crashed head-on near Meilen, 12 miles south-east of Zurich. Officials said a switching malfunction apparently put the two trains on the same track.

There were more than 200 passengers aboard the trains. Workers continued clearing the wreckage today, fearing that other casualties might be trapped in it.

Favors New Little Rock Law School
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Three Arkansas Bar Association lawyers presented their cases Monday night to about 20 members of the Arkansas General Assembly for building a new law school in Little Rock.

J. C. Deacon of Jonesboro, association president, and Henry Woods and Hershel Friday, both of Little Rock, tried to dampen fears that a full-time Little Rock law school would result in moving the University of Arkansas Law School from Fayetteville to Little Rock.

Members of the Senate and House judiciary committees and Northwest Arkansas legislators were invited to discuss the proposition at the Sam Peck Hotel.

Quods said three bills would be introduced in the General Assembly to upgrade the law schools at Fayetteville and Little Rock. He said the bills would provide $900,000 for expansion of the present law facilities at the university.

Deacon said the present night facility in Little Rock, which has 150 law students, should be made a full-time school in order to attract a capable faculty.

A poll by the University of Arkansas Student Bar Association indicates that law students at the university would prefer the law school be located at Little Rock.

The poll was taken in light of the recent proposal of the Arkansas Bar Association and the Arkansas Bar Foundation to locate a day law school in Little Rock.

Of the 166 persons who participated in the poll, 64.5 per cent said they would rather attend law school at Little Rock than at Fayetteville.

January June Will End in California
LOS ANGELES (AP) — southern California's summer-in-January, with 95-degree temperatures and a smog alert, should come to an end by Thursday, the Weather Bureau says.

The 95 Monday made downtown Los Angeles the nation's warmest spot and continued a three-day string of summer temperatures.

The National Weather Service said winds have brought warm inland air to the area while a storm condition off the coast has kept cold air from moving down from the Pacific Northwest.

Temperatures should drop to 78 Wednesday with a chance of rain Thursday as the storm condition moves closer and the warm winds die down, the weather service said.

Beer is estimated to account for about 49 per cent of all alcohol consumed in the United States, according to Encyclopedia Britannica.

Cougar Country Coming This Week

Whiskers," the cougar, grows up under the careful tutoring of his mother. Background is the natural splendor of the Rocky Mountains. Nature provides the special effects; American National Enterprises, Inc. provides the film and cameras.

Life for the young cougar among the peaks of the Colorado mountains is exciting and funny as he learns to catch fish from an icy stream and sometimes ends up getting wet.

"Cougar Country" provides "fun" entertainment for the entire family as "Whiskers" moves farther and farther from his mother's lair and meets more of his neighbors, including a somewhat offensive skunk, a mean marmot, a not-too-friendly American Eagle, giant moose and elk, beaver, badgers and coyotes—and all the other animals with whom he shares his territory—"Cougar Country."

Here is an outdoor film that shows nature as it really is—sometimes deadly serious, sometimes unbelievably comical—but always colorfully beautiful! "Cougar Country" is a film which adults and children alike will enthusiastically enjoy.

"Cougar Country" will show at the Saenger Theatre in Hope, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 21-22-23.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. JOHN HARTMAN SCOTT

The wedding of Miss Betsy Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Roberts of Lawton, Okla., and John Hartman Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mason O. Scott of Duncan, Okla., was solemnized Saturday, January 16 at 1 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church of Norman, Okla. The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. W. P. Roberts, Sr. and the niece of Miss Genie Chamberlain, both of Hope.

The setting included brass seven scone standing candelabra and baskets of white glads and mums at either side of the prayer bench with two seven scone table candelabra on the altar. Dr. E. Kenneth Feaver performed the double-ring ceremony. Candelighters were Miss Debby Youker and Miss Marian Rhodes, both of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Music was provided by John Balka, organist, Miss Ann Shideler, flutist, and Miss Catherine Peeler, soloist. Their selections were "I Love Thee" by Greig and "The Greatest Of These Is Love." Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white, full-length, dacron polyester organza gown in an Empire silhouette with a Venise lace bodice and mandarin collar, Camelot silk organza sleeves, and lace-trimmed Watteau chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion was attached to a headpiece of Venise lace petals, framing the face. The bride carried a nosegay of various pastel flower accented with ivy and peach ribbon streamers, atop a white Bible.

Miss Sue Haggard of Denver, Colo., was the maid of honor. She wore a full-length gown of peach crepe with Empire lines and mandarin collar, accented with wide, peach Venise lace. Her headpiece was of matching lace and peach tulle.

John W. Scott of Norman, Okla., served the groom as best man.

John Berry of Norman, Okla., and Steve Vogler of Blackwell, Okla., ushered.

The parents of the bride were hosts at a reception in the parlor of the church following the ceremony. After a wedding trip to Tulsa, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Scott will be at home in Norman, Okla., where the bride attends the University of Oklahoma and is a junior, majoring in sociology; and the groom is a first year student in the University of Oklahoma School of Law.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

WANTED: BRIDGE FOR THIS COMMUNICATION GAP

Dear Helen:

I'm writing this letter in my room. Mom is in the kitchen, but it's like no one was here. You see, we're not speaking again.

Daddy died in 1968 and that left Mom, my brother and me. Things have been going wrong ever since. Mom admits she uses us kids as a sort of whipping post on whom to let out her tensions.

She yells when we overlook the least little thing. Like tonight, she came home from work and found two dishes in the sink. I'd cleaned the rest of the house, but all she saw was the kitchen, and she started using four-letter words. So I used them back, which I hardly ever do, and she slapped me and said I was just like the rest of my generation—no good hippie-junkies, etc., etc. So I screamed "Shut up!" and she said "Don't come out of your room until you can apologize," and I don't think I'm the one, as she started it—if she can swear, how about me?

My brother has run away twice since Dad died, and his grades are terrible. He cuts school and has been to juvenile hall several times. He tells Mom to her face that he hates her, and that shocked me. . . But tonight I said the same thing, and now I'm miserable, because I really love her, if she'd let me.

You see, I remember the good times—and sometimes they're still good. Mom gives us great presents but I'd trade them all to be friends with her again.

This is my question, Helen. We're not so poor that she couldn't afford to send me away to boarding school, and my grades are good so I'd do well there. I've always refused before as I thought Mom needed me, especially with my brother having troubles. But maybe it's best if I go. My nerves won't stand much more, and maybe hers would be better too, if she didn't have two kids to worry about. —D.J.

Dear D.: Boarding school—for both you and your brother—might be a solution. But don't leave in anger!

You already know what causes your mother's tantrums. Worry, overwork and loneliness have all but closed communication lines at your house, but you can open them if you remember three little words: "Don't fight back."

Sometimes the child must be more "adult" than the parent. It's so easy to fight hurt with greater hurt, then retire to your room feeling miserable and mistreated "because SHE started it." It's a lot harder anticipating a mood and heading it off with special kindnesses, when you feel anything but "kind." Try it for two weeks. Then—perhaps you can make a decision about going away to school without feeling that it is an escape. I hope so! —H.

Dear Helen:

There's a lot of flak about female beauty pageants. How come the guys don't picket for "equal opportunities." I never heard of a teen-age Mr. America show, on national television. —BUTCH

Dear Butch:

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — An "encounter session," 17 hours of nonstop exploration of personal hangups in a group was the vivid subject of a candid report on the public broadcasting stations Monday night.

Part of the "Realities" series, the 90-minute program showed 10 troubled men and women, ranging from the early 20s to will. Ah, discrimination. . . —H. Dear Helen:

I'm eight months pregnant. The father keeps saying he'll marry me, but something always happens to make him put it off. Now he says we have to wait till he gets a good job. I think he just doesn't want to pay for my bills. He already owes me $200 he borrowed last year. If I don't marry him, I may never get it back. Besides having a fatherless baby my folks will have to adopt. (They want to). Should I keep hoping? —TERRY middle age, gathered informally in a living room setting. The ensuing activities were guided by a psychologist, Dr. Mark Goldstein. His voice was heard occasionally as he chided the television audience on what was going on or about results he sought.

Dear Terry:

The session started quietly with the participants, all strangers, sitting around, nervous and remote. At that point the impatient viewer might have strayed to another channel, which would have been a mistake. Once nerves and shyness were overcome, it exploded into real-life drama.

The session, based on "a new theory and technique of psychotherapy," Goldstein explained, opened up when a black woman suddenly said, "For the first time in many years, I'm not color-conscious today at all."

A young man shyly reported, "I like people, everybody." This provoked a tirade from an aggressive girl, who wound up in tears confessing great insecurity and a conviction that nobody liked her.

After that, women spoke freely of marital problems. A woman separated from her husband talked of loneliness. A man admitted he wanted his wife to remain overweight because he was afraid he would lose her if she were more attractive.

There were furious arguments and at one point, blows were almost struck. At another, a man and woman skipped hand-in-hand around the room. Hysterical moments of merriment would suddenly die into silence or explode in a torrent of tears. The object of the session was to get these people to feel emotions fear, anger, pain or love, it did not matter—and talk about them.

Wouldn't Sell to S. Africa

ADDIS ABABA (AP) — The Central Committee of the World Council of Churches appealed to the British government today not to resume the sale of arms to South Africa.

The council's governing body, which is meeting in Addis Ababa, voted unanimously to cable the appeal to Prime Minister Edward Heath at the Commonwealth conference in Singapore.

The committee also commended the efforts of British churches to persuade their government against the arms sales.

The British Commonwealth conference of heads of state meeting in Singapore is to debate the issue of arms for South Africa Tuesday.

Girls Lose; B-Boys Are Victorious

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Last night in the Willisville gym, the Hope teams split a pair, with the B-Bruins knocking off the Willisville B-Lions, 59-49, and the Ladycats succumbing to the Lionettes, 54-46.

In the second game, the Bruins rallied from a five point deficit at halftime, to grab a quick lead halfway through the third quarter and pull ahead a little at a time.

Taking the tipoff, Roger Newton quickly hit a free throw for a 1-0 lead and after Danny Joyce exchanged goals with Danny Camp, the Bruins held still a one point lead.

However, the Lions began getting hot now and repeated layups and quick tosses from the outside forced Hope into a timeout, trailing 15-8, with 2:32 left in the quarter.

Newton and Buddy Ingram then connected for four points but were later matched as the quarter ended with Willisville in command, 19-12.

Cutting the lead down at the start of the second period to 22-21, on two goals by Tim White and a three point play by Ingram, the Bruins again fell farther behind.

With 1:38 left remaining, James Bradley quickly popped the net twice and Whites' two targeted free throws left Hope trailing at halftime, 37-27.

After a quick intermission, White got Hope rolling with a free throw and two quick outside shots by Joyce, knotted the score at 32 all with 6:05 left in the quarter.

Bradley and Joyce then combined for six more points and a 38-35 margin, before Willisville called a time out with 3:21 to go. However, the B-Bruins were to be charged up and immediately Ricky Clark hit a nice jump shot. Ingram and Bradley then each hit a free throw and Joyce finished out the quarter with a two point shot from the free throw line as Hope now held a 44-39, lead.

Only Joyce could hit any points for the first few minutes as the Lions fought back to trail by one, 46-45, with 5:27 left.

However, Bradley, Newton, and White, poured out 10 points in three minutes while allowing Willisville only four more.

Joyce led Hope with 14, followed by White hitting 13, Bradley 11, and Newton 9.

Earlier, the Ladycats, after quickly falling behind, fought back from being over 20 points behind several times, but just couldn't quite get up there.

After Betty Rodden opened the Hope scoring, the Ladycats quickly went cold for over three minutes, before Janet McCain hit a basket with 3:28 left in the quarter.

Now trailing, 12-4, the Ladycats fought back to trail, 19-13, at the start of the second period of play.

Almost immediately Willisville pulled ahead more, taking a 22-13 lead before McCain hit a free throw with 5:51 left in the half.

Now, a four minute cold streak between two field goals by Dee Singleton left Hope trailing at halftime, 37-18.

Putting up four more points at the outset of the third period, Willisville held a 41-18 margin, but with only 30 seconds left in the quarter, McCain and Rodden had combined to slice the lead to 45-25. Seconds later the quarter ended, 47-25, Willisville in full command.

McCain and Singleton opened the last period with good layups, and after Rodden hit four free throws, the Ladycats trailed by

Juniors in Win Over Arkadelphia

By RUSTY QUILLIN
Assistant Sports Writer

Last night in Jones Field House the 8th grade lost 33-24 to Arkadelphia while the Bobkittens walloped them 51-38.

After David Huddleston and Gary Rhodes put Hope out in front 4-0, John Hill hit a field goal and a charity shot to slide Arkadelphia closer.

But with some dandy outside shooting of Huddleston, Hope pulled farther away and as Hope went into the second period they reigned 19-7.

Hitting from the top of the key with just eight seconds passed, Arkadelphia seemed ready to play, but some sharp defense came to the rescue and three minutes passed before Arkadelphia could once again get a shot through the sack. And the first half ended 27-17, Hope leading.

After Bud Martin hit a free shot with 2:03 left in the third quarter, Hope led 37-20. With Hope using their defense once more Arkadelphia didn't find another point this period and as the 3rd quarter ended the score was 43-20.

After the tipoff Knox and Benson sacked four points each before Jimmy Smith hit two free throws to help Hope's cause. With the buzzer sounding, Knox put in Arkadelphia's last two points.

Huddleston popped 14 and Rhodes had 13 to lead Hope, while Arkadelphia was led by Hill with 7.

Within two minutes McCain and Singleton again combined, for 10 points on five field goals and Singleton, with only 14 seconds left, hit a two pointer from the side.

McCain hit 20 points, Rodden sacked 14, and Singleton hit 10, while Jean Eppit of Willisville hit 24.

Tonight the Bobcats and B-Bruins travel to Texarkana, Arkansas for two games.

Hamm Jumped Too Far, Lost Record

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Edward B. Hamm cost himself a world record when he jumped too far in the 1928 Olympics in Amsterdam, Holland.

Hamm, who will be inducted into the Arkansas Hall of Fame Jan. 22 at Hot Springs, remembers what happened.

"On my first jump, I jumped clear over the end of the pit," he said. "Actually, my front foot hit the end of the pit. It was really over 27 feet."

The officials, however, couldn't believe the jump and ruled that Hamm had fouled.

Hamm, who was the first man to jump, says the clear marks on the board indicated he took off four inches behind the foul line.

"I am certain I did not foul on that jump," Hamm says.

Hamm, the favorite to win the gold medal, was disappointed after the ruling and fouled on his second jump. On his third and final chance he jumped 25-4 1/2 — a leap that stood up through the finals and won the gold medal for the Georgia Tech junior from Leno, Ark.

By winning, Hamm became the South's first Olympic gold medal winner and one of only two Arkansans to capture a gold medal. The other was Bill Carr of Pine Bluff who was inducted into the Hall of Fame.

Before winning the gold medal, Hamm set a world record of 25-11 1/2 in the final U.S. Olympic trials.

Significantly, 1928 was the first year since Hamm's sophomore year at Leno that he had not been hampered by malaria.

Hamm won the 220-yard dash in the state meet three times, the 100-yard dash twice and the high jump once during his high school career, but the broad jump was his best event.

While at Georgia Tech, Hamm broke the old Southern Conference broad jump record with a leap of 25-6 3/4 and won the National Intercollegiate title with a jump of 25-0. He also swept the Southern Conference 100 and 220 three times, setting a conference record of 21.2 in the 220 in 1928.

Hamm says the fact that he did not have to run heats in the 100 or 220 before taking his jumps contributed to his performance in the Olympics.

"I was full of vinegar, I'd been saving up," he said.

Hamm was considered an above average college performer in 1927, but was not recognized as a genuine threat to the world record.

In 1928, he cleared 25 feet eight times.

"Development of my speed is what enabled me to reach out," Hamm was quoted as saying. "Last year (1927) I could do 10 flat for the 100 yards, but that was my best. This spring I was clocked several times in 9.8 seconds."

For the past seven years, Hamm has been in charge of sales at Albany, Oregon for a firm which designs and fabricates metals. Hamm, who was born in Lenoke April 13, 1906, will be unable to attend the Hall of Fame festivities. He has emphysema and his doctors have forbidden him to travel by air.

Bucks Know, Apply Name of the Game

NEW YORK (AP) — The name of the game is putting the ball in the basket and the Milwaukee Bucks, runaway leaders in the Midwest Division, do it better than anyone else in the National Basketball Association.

Statistics released today show the Bucks, who set an NBA record last season with a .488 shooting average, have a good shot at becoming the first team to shoot above .500 for a full campaign.

Four of the Bucks' starters—Lew Alcindor, Bob Dandridge, Greg Smith and Jon McGlocklin—are among the NBA's top 10 in field goal percentage and the entire team is firing at a .505 clip. Alcindor ranks second at .586, Dandridge seventh at .512, Smith ninth at .498 and McGlocklin 10th at .497. Cincinnati's elderly Johnny Green contin-

Notre Dame Runs Into a Full Nelson

By HERSHEL NISSESON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The ninth-ranked Fighting Irish of Notre Dame ran into a full-Nelson Monday night—two of them, in fact—and were pinned with their fourth defeat of the college basketball season.

Unranked Duquesne's 6-foot-10 Nelson twins went to work on the Irish and wrestled away an 81-78 overtime victory. Gary Nelson led the Dukes with 22 points, including four in the overtime period after brother Barry tied the score at 69-all with one minute left in regulation time.

Notre Dame battled back from a 12-point deficit midway through the second half and surged in front by three points with two minutes remaining before the Nelsons put the Irish down for the count.

Jarrett Durham added 20 points for Duquesne while Austin Carr had 31 and Collis Jones 27 for Notre Dame, which held onto ninth place in this week's Associated Press poll despite a loss last week.

The Jayhawks, up from eighth place a week ago, ran their record to 12-1 behind the hot shooting of Bud Stallworth and Dave Robisch. Stallworth connected on seven of eight shots in the first half as Kansas rolled to a 43-27 lead and Robisch took over in the second half to tie Iowa State's Gene Mack for scoring honors with 21 points.

Villanova, which dropped one spot to 14th despite two victories last week, raced to a 20-9 spread over St. Bonaventure and the Bonnies never got closer than six points thereafter.

A tenacious zone defense limited the losers to seven baskets in 38 first-half shots and knocked them out of contention. Villanova's Howard Porter and St. Bona's Dale Tepas shared scoring honors at 22 points.

The Bonnies, idle last week, had climbed from 12th to 10th in the poll.

In other key games, deliberate Clemson gave Tates Locke his 100th coaching triumph by upsetting North Carolina State 59-50 in the Atlantic Coast Conference and Barry Cohen's timely free throw shooting in the final two minutes preserved Georgia's 77-76 South-Eastern Conference win over Auburn. John Mengell of the losers was held to 11 points, his lowest total since his sophomore year.

Colorado fought off a late Oklahoma State rally and edged the Cowboys 62-59 in Big Eight play. Florida State turned back tough little Stetson 78-71 and Murray State downed Bradley 79-71 in overtime.

The top four teams in the poll were unchanged. UCLA received 26 of the 28 first-place votes and 552 points and was trailed again by Marquette, Southern California and Pennsylvania. Marquette received the other two first-place ballots and cut UCLA's lead from 85 points last week to 58.

Rounding out the Top Ten were Kansas, Jacksonville, Western Kentucky, Tennessee, Notre Dame and St. Bonaventure.

Baltimore to Go After a Quarterback

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer MIAMI (AP) — Quarterback insurance is high on the priority list of Baltimore's pro football champions today as they turn their attention from the Super Bowl to the upcoming National Football League draft.

But, with geriatric wonders Johnny Unitas and Earl Morrall apparently set for another whirl in 1971, Colts Coach Don McCafferty isn't anxious to make a premium payment by breaking up his old gang.

"We'd like to get a good, young quarterback, but not at a high price that would break up this team," McCafferty said Monday as the Colts, savoring their 16-13 Super Bowl conquest of Dallas, prepared to make the most of the $15,000 winners' share and their new-found place in the sun.

A contingent of players and their wives headed for a Bahamas vacation. Three standouts — Bubba Smith, Mike Curtis and Jerry Logan — have playing dates in Sunday's Pro Bowl All-Star game at Los Angeles. And Unitas, a second-quarter casualty in the Super Bowl, was due to undergo further tests on his damaged ribs.

It will be back to business for the tall, soft spoken McCafferty, a Baltimore assistant coach for 11 years before directing the Colts' redemption crusade in his first year as head man.

"The players are on their own," he said, "but we have to start working on the draft for next week."

On the agenda for the Colts' brain trust are further discussions with the Boston Patriots, who have the top pick in the draft — and the first crack at Jim Plunkett, Stanford's Heisman Trophy winner, or another of 1970's blue chip college quarterbacks.

"We have talked several times with Boston, but only in general," said Colts General Manager Don Klatschman. "No specific players were discussed. We asked the Patriots not to do anything until after the Super Bowl so we would have a fair shot. They agreed."

The Colts, whose fourth-quarter comeback against the Cowboys gave them a measure of revenge for a 16-7 loss to the New York Jets in Super Bowl III two years ago, will draft 26th. But Commissioner Pete Rozelle also has awarded them the No. 22 pick, from Miami, as a "tampering" penalty against the Dolphins for luring coach Don Shula away from Baltimore.

That extra pick could be utilized as part of a trade package for Boston's No. 1, but the Pa-promising it would go on win or lose in Sunday's Super Bowl at Miami.

The Cowboys' plane was almost two hours late in reaching Dallas and the outpouring of fans was swelled by homeward bound workers in the downtown district. Rush hour traffic became snarled in one of the worst jams of recent history.

A big red fire truck with siren blaring led the parade, moving slowly through thousands jamming Main Street.

The players were headed by the Hella Temple Shrine band. Then came multimillionaire oilman Clint Murchison Jr., principal owner of the Cowboys, standing in a car and waving. Coach Landry and the players followed in a long line of convertibles.

Fans darted to the cars to greet the solemn-faced Cowboy players. Small boys in Cowboy uniforms screamed their welcome.

After the procession reached the steps of City Hall, there were presentations, speeches and more cheers from the crowd.

Posters waved from the sidelines. One said, "We love you, Cowboys — welcome home to Cowboy country."

And best of all, no one booed.

trials likely would demand several quality players as well. They reportedly are interested in tight end John Mackey, for one.

After the Colts nipped Dallas on rookie Jim O'Brien's 32-yard field goal with five seconds to play, McCafferty was asked how many Baltimore players could be labeled "untouchable" in trade talks.

"All of them," he replied. That would include Unitas, 37, and Morrall, 36, who have played 15 pro seasons each and don't plan to call it quits.

"I'll be back," said Unitas, who recently signed a long-term contract. "Thank God I've got six months to rest. The ribs have got to mend by then."

"I plan to keep going," said Morrall, the goat of the 1969 Super Bowl loss to the Jets but a winning relief pitcher for Unitas against the Cowboys. "I enjoy it too much to quit now."

Morrall, however, has hinted he would welcome a trade that would enable him to play regularly.

Two other long-time Baltimore fixtures—defensive tackle Billy Ray Smith and receiver Jimmy Orr—won't be back next season. They are retiring after 12 NFL seasons apiece.

For the Cowboys, who left Miami with heads high but little to console them except the $7,500 losers' share, next season won't begin soon enough.

"If our season had ended at mid-year when we were 5-4, it would have been awful tough to start over again next year," said middle linebacker Lee Roy Jordan. "But not now. We know we have a tremendous running game, a great defense and, with a little work on our passing game, we can be one of the great teams in pro football."

Pistol Pete Hot But His Team Lost

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Pete Maravich was everywhere but Atlanta didn't go anywhere in particular. Phoenix took one step up in the standings and Kentucky moved closer to Virginia, figuratively speaking.

In the only three games on Monday night's abbreviated schedule, Atlanta outlasted Buffalo 123-113 and Phoenix dumped Cincinnati 118-99 in National Basketball Association play while Kentucky topped Virginia 124-114 in the lone American Basketball Association game.

Maravich, Atlanta's million-dollar rookie, scored a pro career-high 41 points but the Hawks needed some clutch fourth-quarter shooting by Lou Hudson to dispose of the Braves.

"Pistol Pete" netted 23 of his points in the first half as Atlanta moved in front 68-59—but Buffalo cut the gap to 103-102 midway in the final period before running out of gas.

Hudson hit 11 of his 22 points in that quarter and Walt Hazzard, with six key points in the late drive, finished with 31. But the talent-laden Hawks remain a distant third in the NBA's Central Division, 13 games back of first-place Baltimore and 5½ back of runner-up Cincinnati.

The Royals were never seriously in their game after Phoenix exploded to a quick 10-1 lead and a 64-40 halftime advantage. The victory enabled the Suns to take sole possession of third place in the Midwest Division, dropping idle Chicago into the cellar.

Board work was the deciding factor and Paul Silas was the key. The Suns' 6-foot-7 veteran grabbed 18 rebounds in the first half and finished with 27, breaking the club record of 24. Clem Haskins led Phoenix scorers with 29 points and Tom Van Arsdale led Cincinnati with 18.

Kentucky, behind Dan Issel and Darel Carrier, held off a late Virginia rally and cut the Squires' lead in the ABA East to 5½ games. The Colonels, leading virtually all the way, got 33 points from Issel and 26 from Carrier while Charlie Scott's 23 topped Virginia.

El Paso Suns Will Move to Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — The City of Shreveport lost its Texas League franchise at the end of the 1970 season, but gained another Monday when the owner of the El Paso Sun Kings announced he would move the franchise here for the 1971 season.

Owner Raymond Johnston made the announcement here and also said that former major league manager Mel McGaha would be president of the new franchise. Johnston said McGaha would hire both field and general managers and oversee club policies.

Shreveport's 1970 entry in the Class AA Texas League was a farm club of the Atlanta Braves. It departed after three seasons of dwindling attendance. Johnston said Atlanta mismanagement was to blame for the failure of the departed franchise.

Johnston said he picked Shreveport for a number of reasons and predicted the new franchise—a farm club of the California Angels—would be a success.

McGaha, who formerly managed at Cleveland and Kansas City, has been a coach for the Houston Astros the past three seasons.

Haywood Wins Fight to Play for Seattle

By JACK STEVENSON Associated Press Sports Writer LOS ANGELES (AP)—Controversial Spencer Haywood, fighting a court battle against the National Basketball Association, has won approval to continue playing with the NBA Seattle SuperSonics pending further legal action.

That might come today, or it might not come until March, affecting all of professional basketball and perhaps other sports.

U. S. District Court Judge Warren Ferguson, commenting that professional athletes "cannot be used and cannot be treated as merchandise," issued a preliminary injunction Monday permitting Haywood to stay with the SuperSonics.

The judge set a trial date of March 2 for the case which includes Haywood's contention the NBA violates antitrust laws and the argument of the Denver Rockets that the player is under contract to them.

In an appellate court at San Francisco today, the NBA will argue that Judge Ferguson did not have jurisdiction in the fight between the league and the player.

That basic argument is whether Seattle could officially sign a player whose university class has not graduated. The NBA constitution and by-laws hold a collegian cannot be signed to a pro contract until that time.

Haywood, 21, an Olympic star in 1968, was signed as a financial hardship case by Denver of the American Basketball Association after his first year at the University of Detroit.

Given a reported $1.9-million pact covering six years after his first season at Denver, Haywood wasn't happy and last Dec. 28 signed with Seattle although a majority of NBA clubs objected.

Speaking on the Status of Women, Mrs. Hazel Pritchard told the Hope B & PW Club that in 1970 there were 77 million employed people in the United States, 29 million of whom were women. Unfortunately, there was a drop in the number of women in government throughout the country.

Delivered at the monthly club meeting Thursday night, January 14 at the Diamond, the message traced the growth in the Status of Women from the time of woman suffrage to the current struggle for Equal Rights for Women legislation. "Preparation is an important factor in securing better-paying jobs," the speaker said. Members took a quiz, identifying well-known women in a wide range of occupations.

Attractive potted plants were used to decorate the tables, and they were ultimately given to lucky members in a drawing. Mrs. Mary Andrews, president, conducted the business meeting.

Bruins Making Shambles of NHL Race

NEW YORK (AP) — The Boston Bruins, making a shambles of the National Hockey League scoring race, appear certain to do the same to their own 2-year-old NHL goal record, according to statistics released today by the league.

The East Division leaders have rattled the opposition nets for 215 goals in 44 games—an incredible 4.9 per game. If they maintain that pace through the remaining 34 games they'll finish with about 380 goals—and only an all-out collapse can keep them from surpassing the record of 303 they scored in the 1968-69 season.

Boston also has six of the top 10 scorers, including the first four. The runaway leader is still Phil Esposito, who, with 42 goals and 45 assists for 87 points, seems within easy reach of the record 126-point season he had in 1968-69.

Defenseman Bobby Orr, leading the NHL in assists with 55, also has 18 goals to rank second in the race with 73 points. The Bruins' Ken Hodge and Johnny Bucyk are next in line with 62 and 60 points respectively. Bobby Hull of Chicago and Toronto's Norm Ullman are tied for fifth with 25 goals and 32 assists apiece for 57 points.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Clean Water Laws

One-and-a-half centuries ago, the poet Byron wrote: "Till taught by pain, men really know not what good water's worth."

Today, taught by the pain of pollution in a thousand lakes and streams, we are becoming acutely aware of what good water's worth. Clean water laws are being enacted with new urgency and enforced with new vigor.

Yet, serious objections may be raised by those who are affected adversely. How do the courts look upon such objections?

To begin with, there are indeed limits as to how far the government can go in fighting pollution. Take this case:

A state water commission tried to halt the discharge of sewage into a certain river. But the sewage was being discharged so far from the nearest community, under such carefully controlled conditions, that the chance of any harm to public health was almost nil.

Under these circumstances, a court ruled that the water commission was overstepping its authority. The court felt that even in the name of clean water, there has to be some reasonable basis for government action.

Nevertheless, the vast majority of clean water laws have been upheld, even when they impose real hardship on a particular city, a particular industry, or a particular individual.

Consider the case of a factory owner who had been discharging raw pollutants into a local brook. When a new law banned this practice, he took the matter to court.

"I don't challenge the law itself," he said. "But the fact is that because of the ban, my factory is suddenly worth about $100,000 less than it was before. Why shouldn't the government reimburse me for that loss? Otherwise, this is taking private property without compensation, which is unconstitutional."

However, the court denied his claim, saying this was not a "taking" in the constitutional sense.

"The design is not to take property for public use," said the court. "It is to regulate the use of property so as to protect the common right of all citizens."

LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.
Man's Ulcer Is Wound Inflicted by His Psyche
By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Is there an "ulcer personality"? Since at least one out of three men have ulcers, their personality characteristics must be very common. Prolonged stress, emotional frustration and anxiety increase the acid-pepsin digestive juice and stomach contractions which often result in peptic ulcers. Because ulcers are about 10 times as common in men as in women, it follows that men must be subjected to more anxiety and emotional stress or are less able to tolerate it.

In treating a peptic ulcer it is important to minimize or remove psychic stress. A man may need a new job with less stress. It may be necessary to get away from "the boss" who causes ulcers but doesn't have them.

Often the problem is prolonged frustration and anxiety caused by trying too hard to achieve goals beyond the man's capability. Here is where the wife can often help. If she doesn't ask too much, her husband won't overreach his ability.

When the goals, the need for money and the unending daily activities keep expanding, even the most capable man begins to feel chronic frustration in not being able to attain his goal. Anxiety, loss of self-esteem, burning in the stomach and ulcers may follow. Modern society is geared to limitless expansion of demands. Before 1900 there were reasonable limits and men had few ulcers.

It is often (but not always) true that behind the man with an ulcer is a woman.

When you start having burning or stomach pain between meals, relieved by eating, it is time to change your way of life. Nonstressful relaxation and reappraisal of goals and responsibilities become a must. If there is more work than you can accomplish and lead a normal life, insist that your responsibility be decreased. This could mean an assistant or reorganization of your work requirements. Find things to do that get you away from the job.

It the stress is too many additional responsibilities at home after a stressful day at the office, then replanning of the home environment is essential. It is better to hire help than pay doctor bills.

A person can often identify the major source of his stress. If it is in the office, he can feel his stomach churning when he arrives but if it is at home he can feel tightening and anxiety when he returns.

Although there are many other factors in treating ulcers, avoiding stress can't be overemphasized.

No doubt emotional stress is society's biggest contribution to the sudden increase in peptic ulcers and specifically for its common occurrence in men as opposed to women. Given enough prolonged stress, even the strongest, most able person will begin to burn, then ulcerate and finally bleed. Man literally becomes wounded by the psyche—not because of his personality but because of a mismatch between his stress and his level of tolerance.

Yesterday we showed an example of what used to be known as the sucker overcall. South had 15 high-card points including two aces and an opening bid with two diamonds because his hand was clearly worth an opening bid.

His diamond suit was only a four-carter and West with five diamonds was unkind enough to double. Poor South had nowhere to go but down and he wound up giving his opponents 1,100 tricks above line.

Furthermore, the chances are that if South had just passed, East and West would have wound up going down at some contract, so that the actual loss was more than 1,100.

Today's hand shows a good overcall. South is not vulnerable and doesn't have anything that looks like an opening bid, but he is sure of at least five tricks with diamonds as trump, so he bids two diamonds over East's spade opening.

West bids two spades and at this point North gets into the act by jumping right to five diamonds.

This gives East a tough problem. He wants to bid five spades but is not sure of making it. He is pretty sure that he will set five diamonds, so doubles to get the sure profit.

He doesn't quite get it. With proper defense, South has to lose three tricks and is down one, but his 100 honors make up for the 100-point penalty.

Of course, East could have bid five spades and would have no trouble making it since he would be able to draw trumps and discard one losing heart on his partner's fifth club, but there is no guarantee that South wouldn't go to six diamonds and get out for a small loss instead of giving up game and rubber.

Don't Throw Out That Steak
By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Nutrition Columnist

Take a long look at that thick, fat-marbled beefsteak. Tempting? But before you broil it listen to the recommendation of the Inter-Society Commission for Heart Disease Resources.

The commission includes more than 100 cardiovascular specialists and representatives of 29 leading public health organizations. It urges Americans to curb fatal heart disease by reduction of fats and cholesterol in the diet.

High-fat cuts of tender beef is one of its major targets. So also are egg yolk, pork, baked goods with saturated (hard) shortenings and egg yolks, cream, ice cream, whole milk and all deep-fried foods. Instead, they suggest lean cuts of meat, including veal, fish and poultry, cottage cheese, "soft" margarines made from corn and safflower oil, skim milk, and greater amounts of fruits and vegetables.

The commission admits that there is as yet no final proof that fats and cholesterol definitely cause heart disease. But they state "at times urgent public health decisions must be made on the basis of incomplete evidence."

Heart disease kills 600,000 Americans every year. The average American male has about one chance in five of developing heart disease by the time he is 60. Cholesterol and saturated (hard) fats are suspected of being two of the major causes.

But there are two sides to every argument. So don't throw away that marbled beefsteak until you've heard the meat packer's story.

We asked Arlene Christianson, educated at University of Iowa and now the director of Consumer and Customer Services for Armour & Co., for her reactions. She is not fearful about fat in meat.

"Remember—fat is a basic ingredient in meat. Fat is frightening only when we don't understand it or when it attaches itself to us and forces us out of last year's wardrobe," she says, adding:

"For years we used to say fat people were jolly and cozy. It is more accurate to say that if we eat the right amount of fat, our stomachs will feel jolly and happy. Fat is more slowly digested and so delays the feeling of hunger longer."

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

She adds: "Historically, we thought of pork as fatty food. With today's breed of leaner, svelter and even willowy hogs, this is not nearly so true."

"It is important to remember that pork is not fat meat. The covering around it may be fat. But today that fat is usually trimmed long before the pork reaches the consumer."

Two more kind words for fat from Arlene Christianson: Most importantly, the body cannot function without fat, just as it cannot continue without protein and carbohydrates. Also, the fatty deposits throughout the body protect vital organs and fat directly beneath the skin helps protect the body from excess loss of heat.

She and her company are aware of the recommendations about high fat cuts of beef, pork and other fat foods proposed by the Inter-Society Commission for Heart Disease Resources.

"For the time being, because the subject is so complex, we urge the consumer to look at the total picture. Do not allow any one segment of the food industry—the meat segment included—to show you only one side of the food and health picture," she says.

Now take another look at that marbled steak. What have you decided to do with it?

Renewal of Doctor Draft Suggested

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department's health chief has recommended a renewed doctor draft this year because too few medical school graduates have volunteered, the Pentagon said today.

The recommendation of Dr. Louis M. Rousselot for the first doctor draft since 1969 requires the approval of Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird. With Laird's okay, the Selective Service System can send out a call, probably early in February.

Doctors tapped would enter two years active duty this summer as officers in the Army, Navy or Air Force.

The Pentagon isn't saying how many may be drafted, but one of the reasons for a new call would be to replace many of the 1,126 doctors brought on active duty in the summer of 1968. Most are about to return to civilian status.

Congressional refusal to extend the draft law beyond its July 1 expiration date could create a barrier, but this is not considered likely.

A fresh doctor draft levy, after lapse of a year, would hardly enhance the image of a Pentagon moving toward an all-volunteer armed force.

But the need "to insure that adequate health services are available for our armed forces," as the Defense Department put it, appears likely to force the move.

Rousselot, assistant secretary of defense for health and environment, made his recommendation after two warnings to the medical community last spring and summer.

In an open letter last August, Rousselot reported a 40 per cent falloff in voluntary applications. This decline was believed to total more than 2,000 medical school graduates.

In an interview, Rousselot indicated the situation has not improved since his last warning went out five months ago.

He said young doctors apparently have been enamored by talk about ending the Vietnam war and the draft.

The doctor draft has been relied on for most of the last 20 years or so to obtain enough doctors for the armed forces.

The 1969 call of 246 was the lowest in recent times, comparing with 1,126 in 1968, 2,229 in 1967, a total of 3,692 in the Vietnam buildup in 1966 and 851 in 1965.

Drummed Out of Exclusive Club

LONDON (AP) — Lord George-Brown, Britain's rough-hewn former foreign secretary, has been more or less drummed out of the exclusive Savile club without even being properly drummed in.

David Hardman, a former Laborite member of Parliament who had proposed his party colleague for club membership, told newsmen he struck George-Brown's name from the list after an incident last week.

He said the peer, who was his dinner guest, had risen and made a speech in a breach of club regulations.

"A certain amount of jollity took place and it is all very unfortunate," commented club chairman Rupert Withers.

George-Brown had no comment.

Israel Has Set Up New Farm Group

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A new paramilitary kibbutz has been dedicated in the valley west of the Jordan River, the seventh farming settlement Israel has established there since it took the West Bank from Jordan in the June 1967 war.

Israel's Arab enemies consider such settlements in the occupied territories evidence that Israel has no intention of withdrawing, which the Arabs have demanded as the first step toward peace.

Dedicated Monday, the settlement of Naaran is near Jericho, in the south-central region of the West Bank. Its residents are soldiers as well as farmers and will produce vegetables, including out-of-season winter crops for export.

Sources in Lebanon, Israel's neighbor to the north, reported that the Beirut government has appealed to the Western Big Three to put pressure on Israel to stop crossing Lebanon's border to attack Palestinian guerrilla bases.

The Lebanese Foreign Ministry told the U.S., British and French ambassadors in Beirut their countries' relations with Lebanon would be jeopardized unless they take a firm stand against the attacks, the informants said.

Meanwhile, Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny left Cairo for Moscow after once more reaffirming his country's support of the Arabs against Israel. "This line is unshakable and unchangeable," Podgorny said Monday in a television interview.

Podgorny had been visiting Egypt for the dedication of the Aswan High Dam.

COMING AND GOING

Mrs. Birtler L. Robinson, Johnny Gray, and Mrs. Veronica Phillips have returned from Kansas City, Kansas where they attended the funeral of their brother, James S. Hunt, who passed away January 8, 1971.

Mr. Hunt was a World War I veteran, and was buried with military honors at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas.

While away, they spent some time in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar C. Beene, former residents of Hope.

Rural Doctor Proposal Is Offered

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers' proposal to provide doctors in rural areas was introduced Monday in the Arkansas House.

The measure was one of 30 new House bills, bringing to 119 the number introduced so far in the lower chamber. The Senate's total rose to 93 with the introduction of 18 bills Monday. Bumpers' bill, HB 97, would make scholarship loans of up to $5,000 per academic year to medical students who agree to practice in communities with populations of 4,000 persons or less.

The program would be administered by an Arkansas Rural Medical Practice Student Loan and Scholarship Board to be set up by the proposal.

Bumpers promised during his campaign to offer a program to improve medical services in rural areas staffed by an inadequate number of physicians.

The Senate received from Sen. Milt Earnhart of Fort Smith SB 80 to abolish the state Board of Pardons and Paroles and to transfer the function to the Arkansas State Police Department.

Other House introductions were:

—A bill by Rep. Steve Smith of Huntsville to let county seats of the second class levy a 1 per cent sales tax on hotel, motel and restaurant receipts.

—A bill by Rep. Leroy Blankenship of Walnut Ridge to exempt from the state sales tax flags of the United States and Arkansas, apple pie, and "aprons to be worn exclusively by mothers and-or grandmothers."

—A bill by Rep. Roscoe Brown of Jonesboro to propose a state constitutional amendment barring executive clemency to condemned inmates except upon the recommendation of the state Supreme Court.

—A bill by Rep. Julian Streett of Camden to permit customers the option of cash or credit instead of trading stamps when making retail purchases.

—A bill by Rep. W. E. Beaumont Jr. of Little Rock to require the re-examination of licensed drivers every four years.

—Another bill by Beaumont to establish a driver license medical advisory board that would recommend standards for physical, emotional and mental capacity of those holding and applying for driver licenses.

Other Senate introductions included:

—A bill by Sen. Harold King of Sheridan to prohibit unauthorized law practice by credit bureaus, collection agencies and other lay groups subject to a fine of $100-$5,000.

—A bill by Sens. Clarence Bell of Parkin and W. K. Ingram of West Memphis to appropriate $900,000 for state park improvements from revenue collected under Act 239 of 1969, the real estate transfer tax.

the swift approval given by the Rules Committee, Smith said, "I believe the bill went through a 'railroad committee.'"

Alexander said the question of repealing the law had been debated for years and that most legislators should have their minds made up. He also said that Bumpers had placed on the legislators' desks a week ago a draft of the bill.

He said "pressure" was building against the bill. "Let's get it out of the way," he said. "You're going to be faced with it this session."

The Bumpers bill includes provisions designed to protect against chain liquor stores moving into the state and undercutting prices. It also would prohibit advertising of liquor prices and the sale of liquor in drugstores and groceries.

The provisions are designed to meet objections raised in the past to repeal. Rep. Julian Streett of Camden has introduced another version of the measure that would provide no legal qualifications.

Rep. Boyce Alford of Pine Bluff sought to get the House to delouse the Bumpers bill to the Revenue and Taxation Committee, but Speaker Ray S. Smith Jr. of Hot Springs ruled against such action.

A repeal measure reached the floor of the House in 1969, but failed.

When Earnhart brought up his rock festival bill, six senators questioned whether the proposal might be applied to prohibit Christmas caroling, native folk music shows celebrated annually in parts of Arkansas, gospel singing at tent meetings and similar musical events because it lacked a specific definition of a "rock festival or other such musical and-or singing" performance.

"Oh, of course not," Earnhart said. "You know what we're getting at, things like a cow pasture concert with swimming in the nude and dope peddling and things like that."

Sensors said they understood Earnhart's intent and favored it, but feared that the bill could be used against other musical events.

The bill would require promoters of "rock festivals" to give 30-day notice to officials of the city or county in which the festival was to be held.

Promoters also would have to post $50,000 surety bond with city or county officials and reimburse city, county and state agencies for providing policemen and drug abuse control officers to maintain law and order. Festival sites also would have to include sewer, water, sleeping, food, rubbish disposal and other facilities acceptable to health officials.

The House approved on a vote of 92-0 the bill to require disclosure of primary expenses. The measure apparently arose because of the refusal by the state Republican party to make public the primary campaign expenses of GOP candidates, although some candidates released the information on their own.

Rep. George E. Nowotny Jr. of Fort Smith, one of two Republicans in the House, objected to the bill that would prohibit voting across party lines in primaries. Nowotny said the measure, passed 86-4, was a party affiliation registration act in disguise because, he said, it would force independent voters to identify with the Republican or Democratic parties, depending on which party's primaries they chose to vote in.

Rep. George W. Davis of Horatio, the bill's sponsor, said a political party was a "private thing" and that Democrats should not participate in Republican primaries and Republicans should not vote in Democratic primaries.

Some confusion arose in the 1969 primaries whether current law prohibited voting in one party's preferential primary and then voting in the runoff of another party.

In other action, the Senate: —Approved on a 29-0 vote SB 45 by Alagood to permit medical trainees to perform functions which only licensed physicians are permitted to do under current law. The measure goes to the House.

—Approved on a 33-1 vote SB 21 by Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton to require that legislators be given detailed reports from the governor on federal aid programs entered into by the state between regular legislative sessions.

The Senate approved a total of 14 bills, three of them local measures from the House, one a local measure from the Senate, and a half-dozen minor proposals, mostly appropriations. Introductions Monday totaled 18, bringing the number of Senate bills to 93.

Alagood's medical trainee proposal had the approval of the House of Delegates of the Arkansas Medical Society, which directed its attorney, Eugene Warren, to draft the measure Alagood introduced.

Under the bill, trainees — a term to be defined by the state Medical Board — could perform medical functions under the supervision of a licensed physician.

Supervision would involve the physician's diagnosis, instructions for treatment, and confirmation that the treatment was carried out, although he need not actually witness the treatment in progress.

Among the aims of the bill is a system to make medical care more available to the poor, including those who seek aid at free clinics not staff constantly by a licensed physician.

The House approved on a 93-0 vote an administration bill that would prohibit a state agency from adding to its data processing equipment without the approval of the state Administration Department.

Passed on a 90-0 vote was a bill by Rep. Sturgis Miller of Pine Bluff that would require the state Police Board to notify city police chiefs when convicts are paroled to their areas.

Approved on a 95-0 vote was a bill by Rep. Harry Carter of Little Rock that would make it a misdemeanor offense to loiter on or near the grounds of a public or private school. The House approved 93-0 a bill by Streett authorizing the state purchasing director to provide for cities, counties and school districts to buy motor vehicles at state contract prices.

The House passed 88-0 a bill by Rep. B. G. Hendrix of Fort Smith that would ratify the Arkansas River Basin Compact between Arkansas and Oklahoma. Approved on a vote of 90-0 was a bill by Rep. W. E. Beaumont Jr. of Little Rock that would empower the Juvenile Training School Board to issue subpoenas in evaluating the records of juveniles committed to its care.

The House passed six appropriation bills. It also adopted 12 amendments to the Bumpers administration's bill to reorganize state government, Rep. W. F. Foster of England, the bill's sponsor, said Bumpers had agreed to the changes, which were said to be mostly clarifications in language.

However, among the proposed changes were amendments that create a new Forestry Division in the proposed new Commerce Department and that move the Soil and Water Conservation Commission from the new Commerce Department to the proposed Department of Pollution Control and Ecology.

Foster said the changes, plus the redrafting of some language, were made to satisfy some objections that were raised.

The House State Agencies Committee was to hold a public hearing on the bill Tuesday morning.

cer Robert J. McCloskey confirmed four seizures and said industry sources had reported five others. Congressional sources said they had reports of two more not on the State Department list.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers summoned Ecuadorian Ambassador Carlos Mantilla and informed him the United States had imposed a 12-month ban on aircraft sales and ship repair credits for Ecuador.

According to McCloskey, Rogers also told Mantilla $25.5 million in foreign assistance earmarked for Ecuador is being placed under review. This was interpreted as a warning the assistance program may be cut off unless Ecuador stops harassing American vessels.

All the ships were seized within 200 miles of Ecuador's coast, the offshore zone the nation claims is its territorial waters. The United States claims all waters beyond 12 miles are international territory.

Rogers' meeting with Mantilla came shortly after the ambassador told newsmen his government seized the vessels because

Pollution Is International Firm Declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dow Chemical of Canada has told the Supreme Court mercury pollution of Lake Erie cannot be resolved by the court but only through international diplomacy.

The firm, which is being sued by the state of Ohio, said Monday an injunction banning it from polluting the lake could not be enforced short of war.

It argued that Canadian regulations are not being violated by the mercury discharge and that the Supreme Court has no way to stop the plant's operations without Canadian government consent.

A lawyer for the U.S. government, meanwhile, told the court international treaties do not take away the court's power to protect American citizens from pollution originating in Canada.

The government argued the legal situation is the same as if a Canadian was firing a rifle across the Niagara River at an American.

they had not obtained Ecuadorian licenses to operate in the zone.

Mantilla denied news reports of American vessels being strafed by Ecuadorian aircraft. And he added that ships which paid appropriate penalties were released immediately. According to the State Department, the penalties ranged from $33,800 to $51,000.

It was understood the State Department has advised ship owners not to buy the licenses because doing so would be tacit agreement to the 200-mile offshore limit.

In Quito, Ecuador confirmed seizure of a tuna boat Sunday and four on Monday, claiming 20 U.S. vessels had been fishing illegally in national waters.

The Ecuadorian Foreign Ministry rejected the U.S. protest, blaming "powerful fishing firms of San Diego, Calif.," for sparking the dispute.

could conceivably lead to a pilot project testing the four-day week, which has been used in some small industries and retail outlets but never by a major corporation, at two or three plants.

The union accepted Chrysler's offer of the four-day week study in exchange for a demand that Chrysler deduct the cost of a worker paid union-sponsored dental care plan from workers' wages, Woodcock said.

Negotiators plan to return to the bargaining table Wednesday to hammer out the remaining issues involving salaried workers. UAW Vice President Douglas Fraser said the talks should not take more than two or three days to complete.

Like settlements at Ford and GM, the Chrysler settlement is expected to raise the average production worker's wage to between $12,000 and $13,000 a year by the contract's third year, beginning late in 1972. Wages under the old contract averaged $4.02 an hour.

Of the 51 cents average first-

Tuesday, January 19, 1971 year hourly wage increase, 26 cents are retroactive to Sept. 15 and the remaining 25 cents will be paid back to Nov. 2. The Nov. 2 date was won in negotiations at Ford and the union had said it would strike unless Chrysler matched it.

The basic package was won by the union after a 67-day strike at General Motors.

Also included in the pact are unlimited cost-of-living protection and retirement on a $500 monthly pension after 30 years service at age 58. The age of eligibility drops to 56 in the contract's third year.

Provisions of the contract covering Canadian employees are similar to those won after a 13-week strike at GM of Canada Ltd. Canadian workers will be restored to wage parity with their American counterparts by the end of the contract's first year.
